Good day Folks, here's the link to today's news release:

Elaborating on the weather conditions referenced in the news release:

With a delayed winter frost/freeze-up and the snow blanketing the ground preventing freezing 'solid-to-depth,' the roads are getting chewed up by the supply traffic as the afternoon sun melts them; this is making it hazardous for the drillers and equipment and ballooning our costs of road maintenance and drilling. Thus, we have agreed with the drilling contractor for an early Christmas break for equipment repairs and maintenance with a resumption in the New Year by which time the frost is expected to have gone to depth.

Cheers,

Albert
